DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 2. Claims 1-3, 5, 6, and 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kuhl (U.S. Patent 5,407,295). Kuhl discloses the telescoping tubular members (2, 3) having the press applying and receiving surfaces (5, 6, 7, 8) and disposed in a rotational relationship (Figures 1 and 2, for example).

There are a plurality of press applying and receiving surfaces.

There are step and catch portions (Figure 1, for example).

The structure of Kuhl (Figure 10, for example) meets the recitations regarding the receiving/catch structure.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
  - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 11-18 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kuhl, as applied above, and further in view of Gaynor (U.S. Patent 5,003,328). Kuhl does not teach tripods; however, tripods having telescoping members are common, as exemplified by Gaynor. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have used the assemblies of Kuhl with the legs of Gaynor in order to obtain quick deployment, in accordance with the invention of Kuhl.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 12/9/2002 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's arguments are directed towards the graph of Figure 4 and the discussion thereof in the detailed description. The examiner notes that the firm connection discussed is established after the initial rotation of the two members relative to one another described at column 6, lines 60-67. Once the surfaces have been initially rotated by about 5 degrees (shown in Figures 2 and 4), a connection is established that becomes firmer as the rotation continues to about 25 degrees. Figure 4 shows that the there is also a torque required to release the members once rotated, which is the discussion towards which applicant's arguments are directed. Applicant's arguments are not persuasive because the newly added claim limitations are met by the initial position, shown in Figure 1 and prior to the ~5 degree rotation necessary to establish the initial connection. Referring again to column 6, lines 62-64, it is clear that rotation to establish the initial connection is a single direction only. Referring to Figure 1, the configuration of the wedges (5, 6) prevent reverse rotation that would allow the press applying and receiving surfaces to be pressed together. Therefore, the claim limitations are met and the rejection is maintained.

The examiner has withdrawn the rejections regarding Upton, Raymond, and Craig; therefore, only arguments regarding Kuhl have been addressed.
